Mount Pearl Teacher Profiled in National Magazine

A high school educator in Mt. Pearl is receiving praise for his work as part of a team modernizing Newfoundland and Labrador curriculum with the goal of equipping students with problem-solving skills for the real world. Brad Jones, who teaches Grades 11 and 12 social studies and geology at O'Donel High, has been featured in Canadian Geographic for efforts to challenge students' ideas and encourage choice for self-directed student learning. The District is pleased to see the efforts of our staff members and schools profiled by such reputable organizations.

To read more about Mr. Jones efforts as recognized by Canadian Geographic, please review the article here, as provided by Tanya Kirnishni (January 12, 2021).

Canadian Geographic is an unapologetically Canadian magazine dedicated to uncovering and communicating the stories about Canadian people, places, frontiers and issues (past and present) that Canadian magazine readers want.
